

Winning Poems in 2021 CFCP, Inc., Student

Contest 3S. Light or Humorous Poem, First Place

Signals

Slushy snow begins to melt,
Revealing a bouquet of buds
Beginning to blossom.
Sun peeks from its cloud cloak
Every once in a while.
Winter air warms on some days,
Inviting hibernators to awaken
And check if time has come
To roam once again.
Trees gain sprinkles of pink,
Dressing their branches
As the sound of movement
Washes the world anew.

Christine Xu